Who is your target audience?	1. Individuals with Terminal Illnesses: Patients who have been diagnosed with a terminal illness and have a life expectancy of six months or less, if the disease follows its usual course, are typically eligible for hospice care. This includes a wide range of conditions such as cancer, heart disease, lung disease, kidney failure, Alzheimer's disease, and other serious and life-limiting illnesses. 2. Elderly Patients: Older adults who are in the advanced stages of chronic illnesses or experiencing a general decline in their health may also be candidates for hospice care, especially when curative treatments are no longer effective or desired. 3. Families of Patients: Hospice care also targets the families of those individuals, providing support, education, and counseling to help them cope with their loved one's illness and the emotional challenges that accompany end-of-life care.
